Northwest and Delta Air Lines Consolidate Operations at Louisville International (SDF)

Louisville, KY (April 14, 2009) — Delta Air Lines Inc. and Northwest Airlines, which merged in October and will operate as Delta, have consolidated their operations at Louisville International Airport.

- ➔ Departing Northwest Airline passengers should check-in at the Delta counter.
- ➔ Arriving Northwest passengers' checked luggage will be available in Delta's baggage claim area.

Airport signage and information posted on the airport's Web site, FlyLouisville.com, have been updated to reflect the changes at Louisville International Airport.

Passengers may now book Northwest flights at delta.com. However, the consolidation of operations will continue through the end of 2009 at U.S airports and into 2010 at international airports.
