Natalie Chaudoin Named Public Relations Director

Louisville, KY (October 25, 2016) — Skip Miller, Executive Director of the Louisville Regional Airport Authority, recently announced Natalie Chaudoin was named Public Relations Director, effective Monday, October 17.

Chaudoin will direct all aspects of the Airport Authority's comprehensive public and media relations programs including internal and external communications, customer satisfaction programs and special events.

"After a national search, it was apparent that Natalie's knowledge of the organization, industry and our community, combined with her previous experience in public relations, made her the ideal person for this role," Miller noted. "I am pleased to welcome her to our executive management team."

Chaudoin has been with the Airport Authority for more than five years as the Public Relations Manager, and most recently served as the Acting Public Relations Director following the retirement of Trish Burke. Previously, she worked as a Public Information Officer for the Kentucky State Fair Board, which manages the Kentucky Exposition Center, Kentucky International Convention Center and at that time, the KFC Yum! Center. She also worked for the Girl Scouts of Kentuckiana in membership and community development.

Chaudoin holds a bachelor's degree in history and English with an emphasis in journalism from Lindsey Wilson College. In addition, she is a member of the International Association of Business Communicators (IABC) and currently serves on the Board of IABC Louisville.
